

| | |
|----------------------|---|
| Name | Adapting to Coastal Climate Change: A Guidebook for Development Planners |
| Description | Adapting to Coastal Climate Change: A Guidebook for Development Planners, provides a detailed treatment of climate concerns and adaptation options in coastal areas. The document is both a tool and a link to other resources for assessing vulnerability, developing and implementing adaptation, and integrating options into programs, plans, and projects. |
| Type | - PRODUCTS: Training and Capacity Building |
| Sector | - Infrastructure - Natural Ecosystems - Economic Resources - Recreation and Tourism |
| Focus Area | - Coasts and Climate Resilience (including sea-level rise) |
| Region | - National |
| Lead Agencies | Climate Frontlines, USAID |
| Contacts | Richard Volk (Water team) or John Furlow (Climate Program), climatechange@USAID.gov or Pam Rubinoff, URI Coastal Resources Center, climatechange@crc.uri.edu |