| Name | Supporting Improved Natural Resource Planning through Climate Workshops |
| Description | "CISA is assisting the SC DNR State Climatology Office in hosting workshops about climate and its impacts on South Carolina's natural resources. These workshops are intended to engage DNR staff and stakeholders, including non-governmental organizations, local government leaders, elected officials, corporate landowners, and utility representatives. The goal is to discuss how climate information can lead to improved natural resource planning and decisions and how species and ecosystems in South Carolina are affected by climate. |
